CHRISTOPHER ZELISKO NAMED FIRM PRINCIPAL

(NEW YORK) January 12, 2018—Architect Christopher Zelisko, AIA, a core member of the JLGA team for over 18 years, has been made a Principal of the firm.

Chris will take on an expanded role in overseeing and managing the primary activities of the firm’s design studio alongside founding Principal Jack Gordon, as well as in helping to shape its future growth and development.

“Chris has an exceptional ability to bring a project from vision and concept to a solution that pleases both clients and users,” said Jack Gordon in making this appointment. “I am pleased to recognize his many contributions to our clients and firm with this appointment.”

A graduate of The Cooper Union with a Bachelor in Architecture, Chris’ experience has included projects for NYU Langone Health, Mount Sinai Health Systems, and Weill Cornell Medical College in Manhattan; Poly Prep Country Day School and MCU Park (home of the Brooklyn Cyclones) in Brooklyn.
